

West Lancs League

VICKERS ARE CLOSE BEHIND

LAYTON INSTITUTE are still forging ahead in their quest for the division I title and their current form has enabled them in having four players chosen for the inter-league game with the Welsh National League but they are being closely followed by Vickers Sports Club who have only dropped one point in seven games.

Vickers Sports Club are now back in splendid form again after a moderate last season. What has happened to Lancs. Constabulary?

After winning the championship for two seasons, they are finding points hard to get and have only realised five from seven matches. Freckleton, one of the pioneers of Fylde football are more than holding their own and are lying in third position in the table. Who knows they may be a strong challenger to the formidable Layton side at the end of the season.

FIXTURE UPSET

Polio has played hard with the Great Harwood fixtures, but Johnny Morris, the ex-Manchester United player, who is now Great Harwood's player-manager, is confident that his side will very soon climb the league table.

It is always a pleasure to visit Carnforth Rangers at the Quarry and meet the very amiable and efficient secretary, Don Noble. Here is a man who knows his football and has been a great asset in the management of his club and the league.

As the West Lancashire League is now a Feeder League for referees for promotion to higher leagues, competition is very keen among its officials and at the
